Unitarian Universalist Church of Little Rock

MARCH SERVICES

This March, we'll be reflecting on the issues that matter deeply to us and how we can move forward in service and love.

Rev. Paul kicks off March with his sermon "Keystones." He asks the question, "Can one (nonhuman) species determine the fate of an ecosystem? What are the implications?"

On March 10, Rev Paul will reflect on this year's UUA common read, "On Repentance and Repair," which invites people of all faiths toward accountability practices that can transform our relationships and make us whole.

The Worship Arts Team will have a celebration of Women's History Month with a collaborative service on March 17, and we'll have a meeting of the CUUPS group celebrating the Spring Equinox. Watch for more information.

In the second half of the month, Rev. Paul will be doing a close reading of both the Palm Sunday and Easter story, bringing our unique Unitarian Universalist perspective to them.

A word about Joys and Concerns: Please remember to keep your comments brief and focused. Give us the basics in service and think of our coffee and conversation time afterward as the opportunity when friends can speak to you in more detail. We all need this periodic reminder, even the Worship Arts team.

OUR MISSION: We strive to build a beloved community through shared worship, responsible spiritual freedom, exploration and reverence. We are a Welcoming Congregation, embracing our interconnectedness, engaging with principles in our community, and working to transform our world and ourselves.

REFLECTIONS — REV. PAUL BEEDLE

“GETTING SETTLED”

Thank you all for your overwhelming vote of confidence on February 18!

Soon it will be a year since I came to Little Rock, and I am enjoying our city’s diversity, quality of life, arts and culture, and the many avenues for interfaith community and collaboration. I am also grateful I had means and opportunities to travel this year —from nearby Mountain View to faraway Kraków! —and to visit longtime friends.

As our contract becomes a covenant, we can look forward to an Installation service in the fall (date still to be determined). That will also be an interfaith occasion, as we will invite clergy from neighboring congregations to attend.

I especially look forward to building closer connections with our neighbors who work for racial justice and LGBTQ+ justice. Our 8th Principle Team and I are working on a week-long Living Legacy tour from Little Rock to Montgomery’s National Memorial for Peace and Justice (popularly known as “the lynching museum”) and points between, to take place in the fall (dates still to be determined). It was a visit to NMPJ that inspired our neighbors Kwami and Clarice Abdul-Bey to found the Arkansas Peace and Justice Memorial Movement, to lift up stories of Arkansas racial history in the service of racial healing. Also, I hope to find some ways we can support and collaborate with both Central Arkansas Pride and the Queer Collective that Rev. Marie Mainard O’Connell serves.

Pursuing activities like these will make us more visible in the community and so advance our goals to grow more racially and generationally diverse. An important element will be how many new friends you make in the wider community as a result of your participation. Greeting strangers as friends in the course of working for justice gets our neighbors in contact with both us and our values. It might not be the people we befriend, but others they know and care about and recommend us to, who find a spiritual home with us and help us gain families and become more diverse. Into the bargain, we will have more friends in neighboring faith communities and other local organizations with whom to make a difference in Central Arkansas.

As the annual canvass proceeds this month, keep in mind these aspirations of our church as well as your gratitude for the difference UUCLR makes in your life. This really is a time of new beginnings and new hope at UUCLR. Let’s all find ways to be part of funding and living out our vision.

Rev. Paul Beedle

Unitarian Universalist Church of Little Rock

SAVE THE DATE FOR A MAJOR CELEBRATION!

April 13 will be the combined celebration of calling Rev. Paul Beedle to be our settled minister and the end of the pledge drive. The meal will be catered and there will be great musical entertainment. You won't want to miss this, so mark the second Saturday, April 13, in your calendar now!!

NOT FOR OURSELVES ALONE

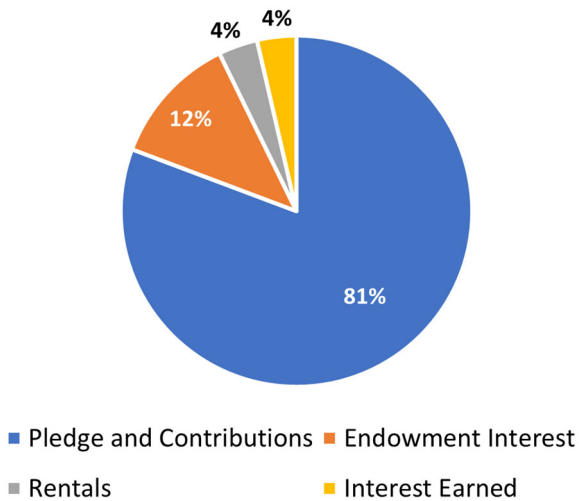

We sustain UUCLR with our time, skills, and wealth in order to realize our aspiration to be a beloved community. We do this for ourselves, our children, and our future members, because love is our teaching. Being a beloved community is not for ourselves alone, and this is the theme for our pledge drive. With service as our prayer, our work for peace, justice, and equity in Central Arkansas carries to our neighbors, our state, and our world.

When you make a pledge to support the annual budget, you are renewing your membership. If you are not a member, we still ask that you consider making a pledge so that we can use the best estimates in building our budget. We are making a name for our church by our actions and our passions. By pledging, you are ensuring that this church is and stays a leader for liberal religion in Central Arkansas.

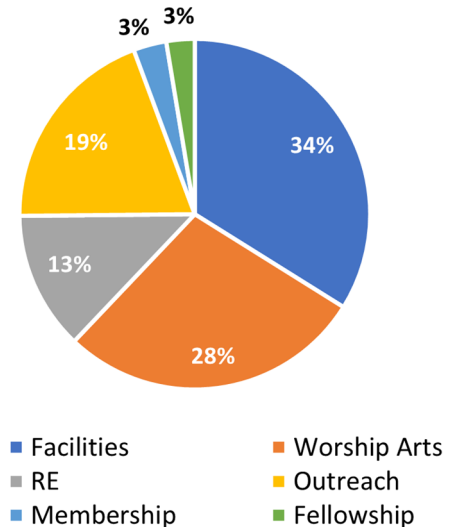

The pledge campaign runs from February 25 through the end of March. Please fill out the new pledge form, which is available electronically on the website and in paper form in the lobby. Return it to the office or into the drop box in the lobby. If you have not pledged and would like to know more about how we use this money, there will be several opportunities to present the budget on March 3, March 17, and March 24 at 12:30 pm in Thomson Hall in the Mehta Wing. Pick up the brochure that shows how we allocate our income and a preliminary budget available in the lobby. If you have questions, ask Nell Matthews, Finance Officer, or any of the Finance and Stewardship Committee members or Board members. This is going to be an exciting year. Help us stay strong by giving generously.

Sources of Financial Support 2023-24

We believe that it is important to show you where budget dollars come from. When you make a donation, the money goes to more than just keeping the lights on and paying the insurance bill. It goes to supporting volunteers and staff who plan the services, who maintain the building and grounds, and who serve the community by providing a food pantry and meals at Our House.

How We plan to Use the Money

It is important to show you where budget dollars originate. Over 80% comes directly from pledge and non-pledge contributions. Interest paid out by the Endowment Fund brings the next largest amount, with interest earned and rentals accounting for the rest.

BOARD PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

My heart is full today. Thank you all for joining together in the last few weeks to share your thoughts and dreams for the future of UUCLR. I am delighted that our congregation wholeheartedly voted to enter into a ministerial relationship with Rev. Paul by calling him as our settled minister, and I am grateful that he accepted our call. The congregation and the minister do the work of our beloved community together and I believe the time we spent envisioning our future was an important piece of that work. Now, it's time to get started on those dreams!

Where should we start, you ask? One possibility is to take a moment to think about your involvement in our beloved community. Your time, energy, and resources are the foundation of our church. Each spring, we re-commit to supporting our church in so many ways, including our financial contributions. I used to see this process as an individual, isolated look at what I could afford – separate from everyone else in the church. Over the years, I've decided it is a dynamic, interconnected energy that grows exponentially. By myself, I can make a small difference in the world. Joining with all of you, each of our gifts combine to create this glorious beloved community that can spread love and compassion throughout our city, our country, and our world. Joining with other UUs. Joining with other social justice-loving souls. Together, we can become a really big rock that drops in the pond and spreads ripples farther than we can imagine. We are not giving for ourselves alone. We are giving for our loved ones, friends, and neighbors, and for strangers we may never meet. We are giving for people who will need a beloved community like ours in 25 or 50 or 100 years. And that kind of work is exciting. I think giving to help someone else just feels good. And working together feels good. I'll go out on a limb and say giving together feels good. So, please just take a moment today to think about how you might commit yourself this year to make our co-created vision for UUCLR a beautiful reality.

With love and gratitude,
Laurie Smith Prud'homme, Board President

FEBRUARY BOARD MEETING SUMMARY

Following approval of the minutes, we heard reports from Rev Paul, Finance Committee, Program Council, Executive Committee, Health & Safety, and 8th Principle.

In old business, we discussed the significant member participation in the ministerial discernment process, and we rejoiced in the congregation's decision to call Rev. Paul as our settled minister! Nell reported on the annual pledge drive that will begin on Sunday, Feb 25 and runs through Mar 31.

In new business, Nell presented the preliminary draft of the annual budget for 2024/25. She encouraged all board members and team and committee members to get their pledges in early. There will be several opportunities in the spring for church members to meet with Nell to review the budget draft and ask questions. The board also discussed the Fellowship Dinner which will be held on April 13 to celebrate the conclusion of the pledge drive and calling Rev. Paul as our settled minister.

The next board meeting will be Tuesday, March 19, 2024, at 7:00 p.m.

Respectfully submitted, Laurie Smith Prud'homme, Board President

FOOD PANTRY NEWS

The UUCLR Food Pantry at Stephens Elementary Community School has reached capacity with a cutoff of 80 families. If we have any food left over, we help anyone still waiting at 10am.

The Arkansas Hunger Relief Alliance sent us the second Pulaski County $12,000 check for protein and produce, which has been used for meat and fresh produce when the Arkansas Foodbank is out. The clients greatly appreciate the bananas, oranges, roma tomatoes, and onions. Starting the first of March, heads of lettuce will also be included. The people frequently will eat a banana immediately after receiving the lime green bag of fresh produce. I can't say enough good things about Edwards Food Giant at Cantrell and Mississippi. They are providing the produce at cost, making our food dollars go even farther.

Can Recycling at the Church

Bring your aluminum cans on Sundays for recycling (just cans!). Lance Scott picks them up and makes $$$ that he donates to the church. He also finds cans all over town that he saves and sells. Put them in the new deck box behind the arbor in plastic bags, please! Paper bags get wet and disintegrate. Thank you, Lance, for your Faith in Action!

FELLOWSHIP TEAM VOLUNTEERS

Your Fellowship Team is looking for a few more members. We throw a few parties/gatherings each year as well as handle the food and drink needs of other church events. Not many meetings and you can choose which events to help on. Or would you like to do something to help out that doesn't involve any special skills OR meetings? How about being a cleanup angel? You just need to stick around for coffee hour and help clean up the coffee mugs and drinks table. Contact Kater at 501-952-5951 katerviola@gmail.com.

VEGETARIAN POTLUCK

Our next vegetarian potluck will be on Sunday, March 10, immediately following the worship service. Please bring a dish to share that will serve 8-10 people so we'll have enough for everyone, especially new visitors!

Come early and help set up or stay after and help clean up. Many hands make light work! Join us!

YOUNG AT HEART LUNCHEON

Tuesday, March 13 at 11:45am is our next Young at Heart gathering. Join us for a delicious lunch ($8 suggested donation) and visiting.

This Young at Heart will take you back to childhood. Before reality descends with all its limitations, children live in a fascinating, sometimes imaginative world, where a polar bear might dwell in your fridge or you can hold an auction to get rid of your whiny little sister. Poet and best selling beloved author Shel Silverstein had a gift for expressing this world with humor and sometimes philosophical lyrics. His poems range from gently humorous to highly insightful to bizarre. After a brief biographical introduction, you will have an opportunity to participate in reading one of these delightful gems aloud if you would like or just be an audience.

“I’d rather play Hurk than go to work.”

“Hurk, Hurk, what’s Hurk?”

“I don’t know, but it must be better than work.”

Please come early to help set up and stay afterward to help clean up if you can! I hope to see you there!

Selma Blackburn, Coordinator

SMALL GROUP DINNERS

If you haven’t been joining in our Small Group Dinners and would like find out what they are about, please pick up the handout on the foyer table. If you want to sign up to join the dinners, or just try one out, please add your name to the sign-up sheet. This is a great way to get to know people.

MEET OUR NEW MEMBERS!

Scott

Scott Lee

Scott grew up in Little Rock, but his career took him to Indiana, Oregon, North Carolina, and New York City. In retirement, he moved back to Arkansas to be close to his and his wife's families. He and his wife, Deirdre, were not able to have children, but they have many nieces, nephews, great-nieces, great-nephews, and a few months ago, their first great-great-niece.

When starting college, he studied astrophysics but later switched to computer science. He worked in software development in the medical and computer graphics fields and, later, provided consulting and training in the process of building reliable software.

Genealogy has been a lifelong interest, and in retirement, this is where he spends most of his time. He is currently president of the Arkansas Genealogical Society, a volunteer position that occupies most of his time. He also writes software for various genealogy projects and lectures in genealogy. His other interests are keeping up with the latest developments in physics, astronomy, and science in general, photography, writing science fiction, and studying artificial intelligence.

Politically, he says he is an independent and strongly opposes party politics and the resulting divisions. Spiritually, he is an agnostic.

Stephanie Webb

I grew up in Springhill, AR and moved frequently within Arkansas. I met my husband, Tim Webb, in 11th grade at Conway High School, and we will be celebrating 10 years of marriage in March. Our kids are Jack, who is twelve, and Evelyn, who is six. We have two dogs and six chickens.

We live on the outskirts of Conway near most of our family. Our children often attend a Baptist Church with my in-laws. My husband works for Acxiom.

I recently stepped back from full-time employment to focus on my family, and to grow my business designing house plans. I enjoy painting, gardening, hiking, camping, and love to cook for people. I have a deep appreciation for music, and find it to be my greatest companion, if not my most spiritual outlet.

Though raised primarily in Baptist churches, I've always felt pulled toward a more nature-based belief system and have spent most of my adult years privately exploring what that means to me. I recognized that what was missing in my life was community. I have found UUCLR to be an incredibly welcoming place, where I see genuine people working toward a better world, and I know that this is where I can put my faith into action.
